International Women's Day is celebrated across the globe on 8 March. It is a day to celebrate women's achievements and to draw attention to the ongoing campaign for tackling gender inequalities.

The NASUWT's Declaration of Intent for 'Global Equality in Education for Women and Girls' was endorsed by UNESCO, Education International, End Violence Against Women and the Unite for Quality Education campaign.

The NASUWT's Declaration continues to call on governments in the UK and worldwide to end gender discrimination and inequality in education with a number of demands.

The World Economic Forum predicts the gender gap will not close entirely until 2186. Women and girls cannot be expected to wait that long!

The NASUWT's Gender Equality Challenge continues to call for schools, colleges and employers to demonstrate their commitment to promoting the equality and rights of women and girls.

'Be Bold For Change' and pledge to take a concrete step to help achieve gender equality more quickly: <http://www.internationalwomensday.com/BeBoldForChange>.
