

STRIKE DAY SUCCESS!

Hundreds of NASUWT members were joined by other public sector workers and members of the public in a tremendous show of solidarity and anger about the cuts to teachers' pay over the last decade.

Jersey teachers Emma O'Prey and Pip Hobson gave rousing speeches condemning the situation teachers now face and the intransigence of the States Employment Board.

NASUWT Jersey Secretary Marina Mauger was joined by Junior Vice-President Michelle Codrington-Rogers, who told the rally: "As teachers we are understanding, and we are forgiving, but even we have a limit."

The magnificent rally in Royal Square was timed to coincide with a meeting of the States Assembly, and following the rally many members continued on to the Assembly to make their presence felt, as a proposition to release more money to redress the pay gap caused by a decade of cuts was debated.

The proposition may have been defeated but the strength of NASUWT members and the support of other public service unions made a massive impact. Knowing the determination of NASUWT members and that the rally would attract massive support, the States offered, at the 11th hour, to reconvene the pay talks on the 1st April.

CONGRATULATIONS AND THANKS TO ALL THOSE WHO TOOK PART.

The NASUWT National Action Committee is now laying plans for the next phase of the industrial action, which will include action short of strike action and further strike action. Details will be released on Monday 1st April 2019.
